There are many definitions for love, and probably all of them are somehow right. I have chosen this poem because I think it expresses love in a very special way:

What is love, but an emotion
so strong and so pure,
that nurtured and shared with another
all tests it will endure?

What is love, but a force
to bring the mighty low,
with the strength to shame the mountains
and hall time's ceaseless flow?

What is love, but a triumph,
a glorious goal attained,
the union of two souls, two hearts

a bond the angels have ordained?

What is love, but a champion,
to cast the tyrant from his throne,
and raise the flag of truth and peace,
and fear of death overthrow?

What is love, but a beacon,
to guide the wayward heart,
a blazing light upon the shoals
that dash cherished dreams apart?

And what is love, but forever,
eternal and sincere,
a flame that through wax and wane
will outlive life's brief years?

So I'll tell it on the mountaintops,
in all places high and low,
that love for you is my reason to be,
and will never break or bow.
- Matt Dubois -

Here Is A Preview Of What You'll Find...

- “Sometimes your nearness takes my breath away; and all the things I want to say can find no voice. Then, in silence, I can only hope my eyes will speak my heart.”
- “There's this place in me where your fingerprints still rest, your kisses still linger, and your whispers softly echo. It's the place where a part of you will forever be a part of me.”
- “My love for you is past the mind, beyond my heart, and into my soul.”
- “Love cures people, both the ones who give it and the ones who receive it.”
- “Life is short, break the rules, forgive quickly, kiss slowly, love truly, laugh uncontrollably and never regret anything that makes you smile.”
- “To love and win is the best thing. To love and lose, the next best.”
- “The best way to get most husbands to do something is to suggest that perhaps they are too old to do it.”

- “We always believe our first love is our last, and our last love our first.”
- Much, much more!
